Little brown girl come and run away from this corrupted society.

Little brown girl run, run to give your good byes to everyone in town.

Little brown girl run, run make sure to tell them that you’re off to the states to stay.

Little brown girl run, run and inhale delicately your last winds of polluted city air.

Little brown girl run, run to your mother to receive her dearly caressed blessing.

Little brown girl run, run and capture the infamous memories.

Little brown girl run, run to be separated for a meaningful while from the misery you know.

Little brown girl run, run, run for some day to return.

Little brown girl run, run and don’t hold back for a new beginning will emerge.

Little brown girl run, run, run.