COURSE DESCRIPTION:

English 1A is a composition course which focuses on the development and application of the academic writing process. Students read and assess models of expository, analytical, and argumentative prose to learn techniques of effective writing. Students practice strategies for planning, drafting, sharing, and revising essays in a variety of rhetorical modes. Students apply critical reading skills to the evaluation of source material in the development of a thesis-driven, research-supported essay. To create the research essay, students apply techniques in organizing, developing, and crafting prose which supports their arguments and balances outside sources with their own voice as writers. To achieve this end, students write no fewer than six essays (a minimum of 6,000 words) and read at least five works, two of which are book length. (C-ID: ENGL 100). Completion of English 1A meets transfer level and baccalaureate/university level equivalent. PREREQUISITE: English 250 and English 260 or equivalent with grade of 'C' or better or satisfactory score on the English Placement examination.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:

1. Apply analytical reading strategies such as summarizing, annotating, interpreting, paraphrasing, synthesizing, and responding to texts, including identifying and evaluating the author's thesis, methods of support, audience, tone, and recognizing bias.

Measure of assessment: Out-of-class essays (such as analytical essay or rhetorical analysis), in-class essay exams, reader-response journals, directed in-class writing, infographics, and/or Annotated Bibliography/Works Cited.

Year assessed, or planned year of assessment: 2016

2. Utilize readings from texts, recognize effective rhetorical appeals and strategies for specific audiences and purposes; integrate key passages, quotes, and summary from readings as support for a variety of writing tasks, such as expository writing, sustained analytical essays, timed essay exams, and/or research writing.

Measure of assessment: Out-of-class essays (such as expository essay, analytical essay, rhetorical analysis, and/or research paper). Other measures may include in-class essay exams, reader-response journals, and/or reading quizzes.

Year assessed, or planned year of assessment: 2016

3. Compose a variety of thesis-driven expository and analytical essays that use the readings as models; show an awareness of and write according to rhetorical features, such as purpose, audience, unity, coherence, emphasis, and rhetorical appeals; and apply the conventions of standard English as stylistically appropriate, demonstrating college-level use of the language, as well as clarity and grammatical proficiency in writing.

Measure of assessment: Out-of-class essays and research paper. Other measures may include in-class essay exams.

Year assessed, or planned year of assessment: 2016

4. Recognize and practice steps in the writing process (prewriting, organizing, developing, composing, revising, editing, and peer reviewing). Transfer and repurpose acquired writing process skills and information to tackle new writing challenges within and beyond English 1A.

Measure of assessment: Out-of-class essays, in-class essay exams, directed in-class writing, and/or peer review workshops.

Year assessed, or planned year of assessment: 2016

5. Plan and construct an original research project through developing a hypothesis, synthesizing information, constructing an argument, and applying research techniques, such as locating, evaluating and summarizing sources, and integrating research findings into an MLA formatted annotated works cited and research essay.

Measure of assessment: Research proposal, Annotated Bibliography/Works Cited, research essay (8-10 pages with multiple sources). Other measures may include visual organization and synthesis of research findings, seminar, and/or presentation.
