4 HOURS

CONTENT: Learn about the class goals and objectives via the course outline; take part in ice-breaking activities; begin work in the textbook.

STUDENT PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES: Familiarize themselves with the structure, content, and objectives of the class; meet other students and acquaint themselves with new instructor.

12 HOURS

CONTENT: Learn new vocabulary and identify it through practice with various listening activities (listening for main idea, specific information, making inferences through context) with follow-up comprehension check and small and/or large group discussion; take notes; use theory of reduced and stressed forms as a strategy to find important information in the aural passage; participate in speaking activities which require use of new vocabulary, some done chorally, others done in pairs or in small groups, depending on the exercise; follow-up is achieved through larger group or whole group discussion; learn and practice the difference in pronunciation of the /s/ sound as it is used in plural nouns and in the third person singular present tense verb; learn about and practice reduced forms ( I dunno) and stressed words; review stress with the pronunciation of tens/teens (seventy/seventeen); learn about change in stress when using can/can't; use computer software or the internet to improve listening/speaking skills or practice pronunciation; OR follow directed pronunciation practice by instructor, targeting, for example, difficult minimal pairs (live/leave, throw/toe), or grouping and introducing sounds by how they are made, such as stop and continuant sounds. Go over requirements for a short presentation (may be based on a topic from the textbook, no research necessary). The presentation should include an introduction and conclusion. The cycle ends with a test.

4 HOURS

CONTENT: Presentation of oral reports.

STUDENT PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES: To be able to give a five minute oral presentation and to listen to peer presentations responsibly; take notes and ask questions.

13 HOURS

CONTENT: Repeat a cycle as described above which includes proportionate vocabulary, listening, and speaking activities; take notes of various types. In addition, students distinguish and practice the varied pronunciations of the ?ed form ( /d/, /t/, /id/) of the past tense; listen to a guest lecture given by a reference librarian on how to find information for the first oral presentation (possible first topic: an invention or other topic suggested by the text). The presentation should include an introduction and conclusion. Teach students how to use reported speech if they will be summarizing what someone said. The cycle ends with a test.

4 HOURS

CONTENT: Presentation of oral reports.

STUDENT PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES: To be able to give a five minute oral presentation and to listen to peer presentations responsibly; take notes and ask questions.

13 HOURS

CONTENT: Repeat the previous cycle with inclusion of a proportionate number of vocabulary, listening and speaking activities; add listening skill of drawing conclusions from audio material and summary of information; take notes; include intonation practice of tag questions (You do work, don't you?) and exclamations (I won the lottery!). Go over requirements for a short presentation (may be based on a topic from the textbook). The presentation should include an introduction and conclusion The cycle ends with a test.

4 HOURS

CONTENT: Presentation of oral reports.

STUDENT PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES: To be able to give a five minute oral presentation and to listen to peer presentations responsibly; take notes and ask questions.

12 HOURS

CONTENT: Repeat the learning cycle of vocabulary, listening and speaking activities; include in the pronunciation unit dropping the /h/ sound in most words and the pronunciation of /t/ in English; prepare for another oral presentation (possible second topic: a famous person or other topic suggested by the text). The presentation should include an introduction and conclusion. Review how to use reported speech if they will be summarizing what some said. This cycle ends with a test.

STUDENT PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES: learn new topical vocabulary; practice listening for different kinds of information; use new vocabulary in speaking activities; show understanding of material by taking and passing test; find information, prepare notes to give a five-minute presentation.

4 HOURS

CONTENT: Oral presentations.

STUDENT PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES: To be able to both prepare and give a five-minute talk and to listen to peer presentations responsibly; take notes and ask questions.
