

Works Cited Page – MLA Guidelines

Based on MLA Handbook, 8th ed.

MLA Formatting Basics

- Begin the list of works cited on a new page at the end of your research paper.
- Include your last name and the page number at the upper right corner of the page, continuing the page numbers of the text.
- Title the page Works Cited Center the title 1" from the top of the page.
- Double-space, within and between, entries.
- Place the first line of each entry at the left margin. Additional lines are indented ½ inch. This is called a “hanging indent.”
- List entries in alphabetical order by the last name of each author. If the author’s name is unknown, alphabetize by the title, ignoring any initial A, An or The.

This is an example of what the top of your Works Cited page should look like:

All citations are made up of a few basic elements presented in a specific order. Not all resources have all elements. Omit any element your resource doesn't have.

Author. Title of Document. Title of Source, Other Contributors, Version, Number, Publisher, Publication Date, Location.

Following are some examples of appropriately formatted citations. The citations are grouped by format for convenience. Follow your instructor's requirements first. Beyond that, these examples can act as models for clear and consistent MLA citations

Citing Sources in the Text (Parenthetical Citation)

-Print Sources-

In MLA style, your sources are acknowledged by adding brief parenthetical references within your text. This coincides with your Works Cited page at the end of your paper. Generally, the author's last name and a page number are enough to identify the source. The following are some examples of parenthetical documentation:

General
In-text reference

Google's founders "were certainly armed with a healthy disregard for the impossible" (Vise 11).

In-text reference when the author's name appears in the text of your paper

David Vise captures the essence of Google when he states that the founders "were certainly armed with a healthy disregard for the impossible" (11).

Corresponding MLA Works
Cited reference

Citing Sources in the Text (Parenthetical Citation) -Internet, Multimedia & Other Non-print Sources-

In MLA style, your sources are acknowledged by adding brief parenthetical references within your text. This coincides with your Works Cited page at the end of your paper. Generally, the author's last name, or title (when the author's name is unknown), are enough to identify the source. The following are some examples of parenthetical documentation:

General in-text reference	The idiom "ace" often means making an A on a school assignment (Oliver).
In-text reference when the author's name appears in the text of your paper	According to Dennis Oliver, the idiom "ace" means to "make an 'A' on a test, homework assignment, project, etc."
Corresponding MLA Works Cited reference	Oliver, Dennis. "ESL Idiom Page." Dave's ESL Café , (1995-2007). Web. 12 Sept. 2009.
